Basil, November 9.

THE beginning of last Month the Duke of Savoy wrote the following Letter to his Subjects the Vaudois.

To our Dear and Well-beloved Subjects of the Valley of---

The Duke of Savoy, King of Cyprus, &c.

Dear and Well-beloved,

THE unheard of Violence France has committed in breach of Treaties and the Rights of Nations, having disarm'd our Troops that were in her Service in the Milonese, detain'd our Officers Prisoners, and having ordered a Body of Troops to march and invade our Dominions, thinking thereby to surprize them unprovided of all Means to withstand so sudden and unlook'd for an Irruption, obliges us to take all the Measures which Prudence and Necessity require to defend them. We acquaint you with it in a Perswasion that the same Motive which in the former Wars induc'd you to shew us your Fidelity and Affection on all Occasions, will inspire you to give us no worse Proofs of them in this, which is much more important. To this End, you are without loss of Time to form your Companies, as you did in the last War, and take in all the French Refugees that shall repair to you, and even invite them to come into the Valleys, to act in conjunction with you; for whose Subsistance we will provide, by one of our Commissaries whom we will send to you for that purpose. We forbear to enlarge on the Reasons that ought to weigh with you in this Case: Our Dominions, our Glory, and your own safety, lye at Stake: We know you are too heartily affected to such a Cause, to doubt of its prevailing; with you to exert your utmost Efforts to contribute to the carrying of it on with all the Ardour of your Zeal; as we expect from all our good and faithful Subjects; and so we beseech God to take you into his holy and powerful Protection.

Turin, Oct. 5. 1703.

Victor Amadeus.

This Letter was enclos'd in another sent to every Minister in the Valleys, and which runs thus,

To our Dear, Wellbeloved, and Trusty---Minister of the Valley of---

The Duke of Savoy, King of Cyprus, &c.

Dear, Wellbeloved, and Trusty;

BY the inclosed Letter which we direct to you for our Dear and Wellbeloved Subjects of this Valley, you will see the Reasons that have constrained us to declare against the two Crowns, and which ought to induce all our Subjects to shew us the Ardour of their Affection and Zeal for us and our Service. You will inform them of the Contents, and we doubt not but you will at the same time inspire into them Sentiments proper to incite them to act vigorously in so pressing a Juncture. And assuring you that we will take this well of you, We recommend you to God's holy and powerful Protection.

Turin, Oct. 5. 1703.

Victor Amadeus.

The Ambassador of France, has written the following Letter to the Canton of Zurich.

Magnificent Lords!

I Am inform'd that the Sieur Miquerole, Citizen of Chiavonne, and Lieutenant of the Regiment of Reding in the Service of his Royal Highness the Duke of Savoy, left that City on the 26th of last Month to carry to that Prince a Petition in the Name of the Refugees of Orange, that are in Switzerland and in the Country of the Grisons, wherein they desire his Royal Highness to receive them into his Service, provided he will promise them the free Exercise of their Religion. I am told likewise that the Person who negotiates this Affair is actually in your laudable Town, and that his Name is Stephen Fricoit. I confess, Magnificent Lords, that I am the more surpriz'd at such a Proceeding, because those Refugees have solicited the Laudable Protestant Cantons to procure them Passports from the King my Master to retire into Brandenburg; which his Majesty is willing to grant. I hope you will not suffer Men whom you have taken under your Protection, to go from Switzerland to carry Arms against my Master, the most Ancient and the most Faithful of all your Allies. You will easily imagine that his Majesty would have reason to complain of such a Proceeding, which he does not at all apprehend from you. I desire you therefore to issue Orders to hinder those Refugees from going to the Duke of Savoy. I am,

Soluthurn,

Nov. 7. 1703.

Magnificent Lords,
Your Affectionate Servant

Pussieux.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Nov. 29.

Leiden, Nov. 29. The following Letter was, (we are well assured) written by the Queen of England to the King of Spain.

Sir, My Brother.

I Am inform'd, to my great Satisfaction, that you are declar'd King of Spain, and that you are on the Way to go thither. I congratulate you upon it very heartily, and wish the Crown which is your Right may prove as happy to you as it has to any of your glorious Ancestors: And that I may testify how great a Friendship I have for your House, and Esteem for your Person and Merit, and the part I take in what concerns your Honour and Interest, I have resolv'd to employ the whole Force of my Arms to contribute to the Support and Prosperity of your Reign. I have sent Orders to the Duke of Marlborough Captain General of my Forces, to assure your Majesty, that I will not be wanting on all Occasions to give you incontestable Proofs of the Sincerity with which I am,

Sir, My Brother,

Bath, Sep. 27.

O. S. 1703.

Your most Affectionate Sister

To which his Catholick Majesty return'd this Answer.

Madam, my Sister,

I Am the more sensible of the Assurances you have given me in your Letter of the 27th of September, which the Duke of Marlborough your Ambassador ambassador and Captain General of your Arms delivered to me, in that from the beginning of your Reign you have, for the good of my House, given Earnest of the Promises you at present renew to me with so much Generosity. If a happy Success of your Arms shall be attended with the Accomplishment of your Wishes, I assure you I will make no other use of my good Fortune than to employ it against our common Enemies, for the Advantage of your Kingdoms, and for maintaining the Liberty of Europe. I intreat you to assist me with your prudent Counsels, which are the Astonishment of your Enemies, the Support of your Allies, and the Happiness of your Subjects. I shall attend to them with the greater deference, because you have given such shining Proofs of the Uprightness and Sincerity of your Intentions. I take it as a peculiar Token of your Esteem for me, that your Majesty has been pleas'd to choose a Person so acceptable as the Duke of Marlborough to witness what Sentiments I have for your Interest, in what Admiration I hold your Merit, and that there is nothing I wish more passionately than Occasions to testify with what Sincerity and Gratitude I am,

Madam, my Sister,
Your most Affectionate Brother
CHARLES.
